2019 Senate Votes

Following the 2018 election, Democratic legislators held a significant majority in the House of Representatives and the Republicans maintained their slim majority in the Senate. Though several pieces of pro-life legislation were introduced in both bodies, only the Senate heard them in committee and advanced them through the process.

The Senate had no scored votes in 2019. However, the following bills were given committee hearings and included in the Senate version of the HHS omnibus bill:

S.F. 1168, which would require a woman the opportunity to view her ultrasound prior to an abortion, if an ultrasound is being done

S.F. 1462, which would increase funding for the Positive Alternatives grant program

S.F. 1471, which would require Woman's Right to Know informed consent information to be posted on abortion provider websites

S.F. 1609, the Pain Capable Unborn Child Protection Act

S.F. 2195, which would establish a grant to support perinatal hospice programs
